DETAILED ACTION

Acknowledgment is made of the amendment filed 2/5/03. Claims pending are 18-44.

Claims 1-17 have been cancelled.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 18-20 and 22-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hewitt et al. (US 3,842,847).

Hewitt et al. teach compositions for the treatment of hair and scalp, said compositions containing 0.5-8% of an astringent metal salt (e.g. aluminum chlorohydrate) that causes a reduction in the activity of the sweat glands of the scalp. See Abstract; col. 2, lines 4-32; col. 6, lines 47-63. The compositions of Hewitt et al. diminish secretions of perspiration and sebum, keep hair and scalp clean for a longer period of time and prevent acne. See col. 6, lines 47-68; col. 7, lines 1-5.

Thus, Hewitt et al. teach each and every limitation of Claims 1-10 and 12-17.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. Claim 21 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hewitt et al. in view of Jaeger et al. (DE 3015868, Abstract).

Hewitt et al. applied as above. Hewitt et al. do not explicitly teach preventing or removing dandruff as claimed in the instant claim. However, Jaeger et al. teach using antiperspirant aluminum salts as dermatological agent against flaking of skin and scalp. See Abstract. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to use compositions and method of Hewitt et al. for treating dandruff as suggested by Jaeger et al.

4. Claims 27-29, 31-38 and 40-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hewitt et al. in view of Kropf et al. (US 6,316,030).

Hewitt et al. applied as above. While the Hewitt's teaching is not limited to aluminum chlorohydrate, the reference does not explicitly teach aluminum hydroxylactate of Claim 27 and acidic aluminum/zirconium salt of Claim 36. However, aluminum hydroxylactate and acidic aluminum/zirconium salts are known antiperspirants conventionally used in perspiration-inhibiting compositions. See, for example, Kropf et al. at col. 7, lines 20-36.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to use either aluminum hydroxylactate or acidic aluminum/zirconium salts of Kropf et al. in compositions of Hewitt et al. because aluminum hydroxylactate and acidic aluminum/zirconium salts of Kropf et al. are known astringent/antiperspirant salts commonly used for the same art-recognized purpose as aluminum chlorohydrate of Hewitt et al. Hewitt et al. suggests that water soluble metal salts which have the power to "narrow or close perspiration and sebaceous duct openings", other than aluminum chlorohydrate, can be used in their compositions.

5. Claims 30 and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hewitt et al. in view of Kropf et al. and further in view of Jaeger et al.

Hewitt et al. in view of Kropf et al. applied as above. Hewitt et al. do not explicitly teach preventing or removing dandruff as claimed in the instant claim. However, Jaeger et al. teach using antiperspirant aluminum salts as dermatological agent against flaking of skin and scalp. See Abstract. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to use compositions and method of Hewitt et al. and Kropf et al. for treating dandruff as suggested by Jaeger et al.

Therefore, the invention as a whole would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 2/5/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With respect to the rejection over Hewitt et al., the Applicant argues that "all of the instant claims require the composition comprising the antiperspirant active ingredient be topically administered "to an area affected by increased sebum production" and the Examiner "has not shown that these areas were affected by increased sebum production in the first place". See p. 9 of the remarks. In response, it is noted that Hewitt et al. teach that their compositions are applied to hair and scalp and "would counteract a tendency towards excessive perspiration in that area." See col. 1, lines 33-34.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
